KEY OFFICERS OF FOREIGN SERVICE POSTS

Guide for Businessmen

November 1972

ADDRESSING CORRESPONDENCE

It is most important that correspondence to a Foreign Service post be addressed to a section or position rather than to an officer by name. This will eliminate delays resulting from the forwarding of official mail to officers who have transferred.

KEY OFFICERS OF FOREIGN SERVICE POSTS

Guide for Businessmen

The Guide for Businessmen lists key officers at Foreign Service posts with whom American businessmen would most likely have contact—the Chiefs and Deputy Chiefs of Missions, the senior officers of the political, economic, commercial, consular, and administrative sections of the post, the labor attachés or labor officers, the agricultural attachés, officers of the Agency for International Development (AID), and the public affairs officer for the U.S. Information Agency (USIA). All embassies, legations, consulates general, and consulates are listed.

This guide is intended to help you determine which section of a particular Foreign Service post could best assist you or your firm with regard either to a specific problem or some general issue.

At the head of each U.S. diplomatic mission are the Chief of Mission, with the title of Ambassador or Minister, and the Deputy Chief of Mission. These officers are responsible for the entire U.S. mission within a country, including all consular posts as well as the embassy.

Economic/Commercial officers are heads of Economic and Commercial sections.

Economic officers take part in negotiations relating to our economic policy objectives and analyze and report on economic matters. At the smaller posts they also perform the functions of the commercial officer.

The commercial officer's primary responsibility is to promote the trade, travel, and private investment interests of the United States. These officers help develop trade contacts and export opportunities; arrange appointments for U.S. businessmen and assist in contacts with local government officials; support special overseas activities of the Department of Commerce, such as trade centers, trade missions, and trade fairs; and report on business trends, market potentials, and laws and customs that affect U.S. commercial interests. They also work toward eliminating any discriminatory treatment of U.S. business interests.

Political officers participate in negotiations to further U.S. political objectives. They analyze and report on political developments of internal or international significance.

The labor attaché, or labor officer, is responsible for following the political and economic activities of the national labor organizations. These officers are ready to supply information regarding labor and social attitudes and trends, wages, nonwage costs, social security regulations, Government labor policies and regulations, and labor attitudes toward American business investments.

Consular officers extend to U.S. citizens and their property abroad the protection of the United States Government; maintain lists of local attorneys; and act as liaison with customs, tax, and police officials. Consular officers have the authority to notarize documents and authenticate signatures and seals of foreign officials. In troubled areas, the U.S. businessman is advised to register with the consular officer.

The administrative officer is responsible for the management of the post including such matters as personnel, budget, operations, etc. This officer is in charge of purchasing for the post and would be the individual to contact regarding sales to the post, its commissary, or its personnel.

Scientific attachés have liaison and reporting responsibilities related to international problems in science and technology. They are advisers to the Ambassador on possible initiatives within the science area which can effectively advance U.S. foreign policy objectives. They deal regularly with key scientists, technologists, and government science policy officials in their countries of assignment. They also represent the technical agencies of the U.S. Government that do not maintain overseas representatives in their international science activities.

The agricultural attaché, an officer of the U.S. Department of Agriculture attached to a post, reports on agricultural production, trade policy, and market developments in his area, and promotes U.S. agricultural exports.

The AID Mission Director is responsible for AID programs, including dollar and local currency loans to governments and private enterprises, grants, investment guaranties, technical assistance, and fellowships. Many AID Missions also have private enterprise officers to assist businessmen interested in these programs.

The public affairs officer, an officer of the U.S. Information Agency, is responsible for U.S. informational and cultural programs in the host country. Although not specifically charged with assisting U.S. business abroad, this officer is ready to advise American companies on general public relations programs.

Export-Import Bank representatives promote U.S. export trade by explaining Bank policies and programs to potential purchasers and foreign government officials; maintaining contact with potential purchasers, U.S. business representatives and exporters, commercial banks, trading companies, financial institutions, and U.S. diplomatic posts; and by participating in commercial conferences of the Department of Commerce, U.S. chambers of commerce, and other agencies abroad.

Names of individuals are listed in this booklet for the convenience of businessmen traveling abroad who are visiting cities where posts are located.

Before departing the United States on overseas trips, businessmen should find it helpful to consult the nearest Department of Commerce Field Office to obtain briefings on the countries they intend to visit and information regarding many Government-sponsored trade development services available to American firms.

The Department of Commerce maintains useful and up-to-date information on foreign countries and trade expansion prospects which businessmen in the United States can obtain promptly by writing to its Bureau of International Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

It also provides a Business Travel Facilitation Service, in Washington and through domestic Field Offices, whereby Foreign Service posts will be informed in advance of a businessman's itinerary and his needs for assistance while abroad.

In the Department of State, the Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs and especially its Business Relations Division have been established to serve American business. Businessmen may obtain guidance and assistance with regard to their overseas interests by visiting or writing the Business Relations Division, Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs, Department of State, 2201 C Street NW. 20520, Room 3334.

Holidays Abroad: American Embassies and Consulates are closed on official local holidays of the host country, and on the following U.S. holidays: New Years (January 1), Washington's birthday (3d Monday in February), Memorial Day (last Monday in May), Independence Day (July 4), Labor Day (first Monday in September), Columbus Day (second Monday in October), Veterans Day (fourth Monday in October), Thanksgiving Day (fourth Thursday in November) and Christmas (December 25).
